

Kate's tribute

Wed 21st May '08

FORMER Ermington schoolgirl Kate Corrigan is performing a tribute to 60s siren Mary Hopkin at legendary London Venue the Troubadour club on September 18.

The mezzo soprano who recently released a single with South Huish resident Darryl Way of Curved Air fame, is a former member of the Madrigals who performed at many festivals in the UK and internationally.

She has since gone solo and is performing her tribute to the reclusive blonde artist most famous for her dulcet tones on Those Were The Days, My Friend.

The tribute to Mary Hopkin is a celebration of the career of the Welsh folk singer. Twiggy, the 1960s fashion icon, having seen her performance on Opportunity Knocks, recommended her to Paul McCartney and Mary became one of the first artists to record on the Beatle's Apple label.

Contributed

She went on to represent Britain in the Eurovision Song Contest and has worked with the likes of McCartney, Donovan, Bob Johnson and Pete Knight of Steeleye Span, and Vangelis.

With Kate Corrigan, audiences can expect a nostalgic trip down memory lane, with the rich vocal talents of one of the UK's rapidly emerging and delightfully engaging artists.

Tickets for the concert are £10 from www.wegotickets.co.uk

The Troubadour is the last 50s coffee house in Earls Court.

One review called it 'the best eatery West of Big Ben'. Jimi Hendrix, Joni Mitchell, Bob Dylan and Paul Simon all played there in the 60s and it.
